

Matthew D. Elshiaty

Matt Elshiaty represents businesses and individuals in transactional, regulatory, and litigation matters. He is a member of the firm's Litigation and Commercial Law practice groups, with an emphasis on insurance defense.

Mr. Elshiaty attended West Virginia University and earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and Political Science. He focused his undergraduate studies in the disciplines of American Literature and Writing, as well as Legislature and Public Policy. This led him to the West Virginia University College of Law, where he served as Executive Publications Editor of West Virginia Law Review. Mr. Elshiaty was elected President of the student chapter of the Defense Trial Counsel, and he was an active participant in the Lugar Trial Association. In addition to receiving various awards and academic honors, he earned a Doctor of Jurisprudence in May of 2014.

Prior to attending law school, Mr. Elshiaty worked in the behavioral healthcare field. He was employed by Valley Healthcare System in Morgantown, W.Va. as a case management supervisor, which resulted in numerous promotions that allowed him to wrap up his non-legal career as an industry analyst and manager of quality assurance. Before joining Kay Casto & Chaney, Mr. Elshiaty cultivated valuable experience as a clerk for Judge Russell M Clawges, Jr., in Monongalia County.
